

Price

You need to write a class named Price (in the folder of the same name) that represents a dollar and cents value. It should support a default constructor and a converting constructor for a double. It should support the <<, +, +=, -, -=, and >> operators. Please see the test cases for the specific behavior for each operator.