

Leak Memory

Write a function named "SumOf5", that doesn't leak memory. This function takes a dynamically allocated array of 5 ints and returns the sum of the elements. I've already written a function that calculates the sum correctly, but it is currently leaking memory, help me fix it.

The header and implementation files should be in the folder named "LeakMemory".